

ABSTRACT

An article of manufacture and a method includes providing a system having an interface, dividing the interface into levels, associating a dependency list with a level, associating a client with the dependency list, and marking the clients associated with a
5 dependency list for recompilation based on a change to a global component.

20736253.doc